Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 24.-The resentment against Gov. Swettenham continues here and the local relief committee is now absolutely ignoring him in its easures, and is going ahead to do all it can to restore the confidence of the people and to relieve the distress. It has established three food depots at various sections of the city, and has a fair supply on hand in each of them. According to Archbishop Nuttall, 10,000 people are absolutely dependent upon charity, and he is very severe in his ward outside relief.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, Thursday, Jan. 24, 1967—8 p. m.

General Forecast. For the second time during the present week a ver moderate depression, moving rapidly over the north spows and rains over the northern districts east of the Rocky Mountains, and, like its immediate prede-cessor, it is closely followed by an extensive high pressure area with a cold wave. An offshoot of the depression, now over interior Texas, has caused local rains in that section, and there were also rains in California and Southern Oregon.

Temperatures are considerably higher in the cen-tral valleys and the Upper Lake region, and lower in the West, except in the Pacific States.

There will be snow Friday in the Lake region.

There will be snow Friday in the Lake region, Western New England, the Middle Atlantic States; rain or snow in the Ohio Valley; rain in the West Guif States, and possibly snow in the Central Rocky Mountain region. On Saturday the weather will be generally fair, except in the Pacific States, where rain is apt to continue Friday and Saturday. It will be much colder Friday in the Upper Lake region, the Upper Mississippi, the Missouri, and Lower Arkansas valleys, and Friday night and Saturday in the Ohio Valley. It will be warmer Friday in the Atlantic States and Eastern Lower Lake region, and colder Saturday in the Middle Atlantic States and Lower Lake region.
